Rev. T. G. Fallin went out to Deering Tuesday and officiated at the marriage of B. A. Tolle to Miss Martha Pemberton. Fallin, and left for a trip to Memphis.

More happy homes are broken, more marriages are made failures and more heart-aches and desolate homes are made by the tongue of supposed friends and well-meaning people than by all the devils and arch fiends out of hell. It is awful to sow the seed of distrust, to create doubt in the trusting mind and by the trust of friendship sap the life and the beauty from united souls. However honest in their convictions such people may be, or what their relation, or claim for friendship may be, we are sure they could be guilty of no greater crime, and that there is no atonement or compensation for their sin. Nothing is more holy than the bonds of married life—it severs all other ties, when necessary—and only a demon or an idiot will moth-eat and decay the tender thread that binds two hearts in unison and make life's sweetest music a discord and the soul's sweetest flower to wither.

For sale, 75c per bushel. The very best that grows. Enquire either at J. L. Dorris store, Hayti, or F. D. Morris farm, Concord.
